

Everything Is Calling Me Deeper – David Washington

Everything's calling me deeper
To the heart of Love, the heart of Love.
Everything's calling me deeper
To the heart of Love, the heart of Love.

I feel blessed to have found a place of peace.
I let every situation be the doorway to go deeper.
So, when I look around and see my world in confusion,
There's only one place to start to bring the peace I know.

Everything's calling me deeper
To the heart of Love, the heart of Love.
Everything's calling me deeper
To the heart of Love, the heart of Love.

From the Great Mystery springs one perfect duality.
An empty hand turns it round and round and round and round.

Is the conflict I see simply complimentary?
If it were fully resolved would the fabric of duality be dissolved?

Be that as it may, I'm here and I have my part to play
With my biased conclusions,
I spin round and round and round and round.

I see my world and feel it's pain within me.
So I find what is mine to do while living in the Light.

Everything's calling me deeper
To the heart of Love, the heart of Love.
Everything's calling me deeper.
